

ASH GREEN WEEKLY NEWS

On Monday we celebrated our stance against bullying by coming to school in odd socks! Today we were wearing spots and blue items for Children In Need day. Next week we will celebrate International Week with various activities each afternoon to celebrate diversity and increase our knowledge of some of the World Cup nations! We will also offer the chance watch some of the opening England game! Keep the 26th November free in your diaries to support Holy Nativity as the whole community comes together to celebrate our year with the Church Christmas Fair (see below)

VISITS AND VISITORS

Another busy week for us with children going out to visit other places although sadly 1M got washed out and their Ogden trip will be rearranged.

We were visited by Head Teachers from two other schools to look at practice in our Early Years who said the children's behaviour was exemplary.

We hosted two radio stations and the BBC Look North team again today who also commented on our brilliant children – and staff of course! Look North is on BBC 1 tonight at 6:30 Team Ash Green are on!

INTERNATIONAL WEEK

As the FIFA Men's World Cup starts, we celebrate International Week at Ash Green next week.

Each day the children will learn a little about a different competing country with food tasting, art work and stories linked to countries competing where French (Modern Foreign Language) is spoken.

We will also give interested children the chance to watch some of England's opening game against Iran on Monday afternoon – the only group game for England taking place in the afternoon not evening!

CHILDREN IN NEED

Thank you for all your support for Children in Need today. It was great to see children in Pudsey Bear items, wearing spots or just dressed in blue – the international colour of anti-bullying which we highlighted again during a successful Anti-Bullying week.
